Australia NSW Sydney Bare Island Deep Wall

Max depth: 18.7 m
Duration: 58:30 min

Gas used: 10.0 l air	Tags: Drift, Shore	SAC: 11.5l/min	Weights: 0.0kg
Divemaster:	Buddy: Janine Gregson, John Turnbull	Suit: Drysuit	Rating: 3 / 5

Notes:
After about three weeks of heavy rain I thought that the water would be dirty. However, apart from the top three metres, the visibility was amazing. Went off W point and out on the wall it was about 15 m. Back near SHC it was at least 20 m, as good as I have ever seen! Tide was running out and it was quite strong on the wall. Found one sea horse but John saw two. The third one is missing. Lots of sand moved by the big seas, deeper in spots and shallower elsewhere. One RIF and one upsidedown pipefish. No PPH. Very nice dive, especially considering what I was expecting. Visibility very good.

Gas used: 10.0 l air	Tags: Drift, Night, Shore	SAC: 11.1l/min	Weights: 0.0kg
Divemaster:	Buddy: Mark Simpson	Suit: Drysuit	Rating: 2 / 5

Notes:
Club night dive. Went off W point and to wall. Much dirtier than Tuesday, viz only 7 m at best. I had plenty of problems with my mask, it kept fogging up no matter how many times I cleaned it, very annoying. Found 1 RIF on wall, 3 on RIF Reef, another before SHR and one more after that, making 6 in all, a record I think. A huge bullray near cave, quite a few squid at the start of the dive. Very average dive considering the viz and my mask problems. Visibility poor.

Divemaster:	Buddy: Nancy Scoleri, I	Suit: Drysuit	Rating: 2 / 5

Notes:

Club boat dive, two boats. Flat seas and no wind but raining. Anchored a bit too far to W of wall, so a bit of a swim over. Lots of one-spot pullers around and a few Port Jackson sharks. Did not go too far N or S of where we met the wall. A nice site we need to dive more, have not dived here for many years. Visibility good.

Notes:

Went out on Peter Field's boat. Slight current from N, could see wreck at 42 m from 28 m. Went to bow and then back to stern. Lots of seapike and yellowtail over the wreck. A small wobbegong and a few moray eels. Nice dive. Visibility very good.

Dive #3664 - Mon Sep 15, 2014 12:15:00 PM

Notes:
A dive to check out one of Scott Whalan's wreck possibilities. This was about half way from N end of Shark Island to Neilsen Park. It was a concrete block about 2.5 m square and perhaps 1.5 m high. On one side was a steel arm lying on bottom and on top coils of electrical cable. Some cable ran off over sand in loops. Visibility fair.

Dive #3665 - Mon Sep 15, 2014 12:45:00 PM
Australia NSW Sydney Vaucluse Bay

Max depth: 16.7 m
Duration: 6:50 min

			Rating: 1 / 5

Notes:
Another dive to check out one of Scott's targets. This was probably a boat, but it was right near a moored yacht. I went down the mooring line but viz on bottom was about 1 m. Could not see a thing despite a search pattern in front of the mooring. Visibility very shithouse.

Dive #3666 - Tue Sep 23, 2014 8:47:00 AM
Australia NSW Sydney SS Tuggerah

Max depth: 46 m
Duration: 39:10 min

Gas used: 12L 232 bar EAN26 / 3L 232 bar EAN57	Tags: boat, wreck	SAC: 14.0l/min	Weights: 0.0kg
Divemaster:	Buddy: Ray Moulang	Viz: 2 / 5	Rating: 3 / 5
Suit: Drysuit

Notes:
A bit of swell but long and rolling. A medium current from N all the way to the bottom. Anchored near prop. Ray took a long time to come down so only ended up diving to the front of the boiler. A couple of large wobbegongs, lots of nannygai and a blue morwong. Showed Ray the tools. Not the best dive here but a lot nicer than some others. Visibility fair.
